

NEXTGEN THE NEW GUARD

Paris | 19 May – 03 September

CARPENTERSWORKSHOP GALLERY

Carpenters Workshop Gallery presents in our Paris gallery the second part of our "New Guard" series, an exhibition of newly commissioned works by six exceptional emerging artist-designers, this time all based in Europe.

This group show is intended to offer a glimpse of the new voices in contemporary design in Europe by presenting works by Bea Bonafini, Paul Créange, Luke Fuller, Léa Mestres, Marcin Rusak and Sylvain Rieu-Piquet.

Bea Bonafini's magical sculptures and textiles explore the relationship of the work to its space and to its public. While the coloured lamps of Léa Mestres question the process of creation by emancipating itself from the established rules. Luke Fuller's ceramics, with abstract and organic forms, are of a radically different aesthetic, but also question the process of creation, or rather of production, of industrial societies. Finally, the plant-driven works of Marcin Rusak and the sculptures of Paul Créange explore new sources of inspirations and forms of creation from elements already overexploited: nature and photography. Each of the artists presented, through a unique and personal practice, explores a new vector of creation.
